

Reality Is Beautiful

As an artist, all of my inspiration comes from the real world. To me, real life is supreme. The sounds of seagulls chirping, the chatter of a crowd, leaves rustling in the wind, even the chaotic hum of traffic—these are the things that keep me entertained and inspired. Reality, in its raw and unfiltered form, offers an endless supply of beauty and creativity.

Remain Grounded in Reality

In today's world of constant connectivity, it's easy to get lost in the digital haze. The internet, smartphones, and social media distract us from what's happening around us.

The iPhone, in particular, keeps us tethered to a flood of notifications—news updates, celebrity gossip, and trivial content that pulls us away from the present. This pseudo-social state disconnects us from what truly matters: our family, our community, our immediate surroundings.

“At the end of the day, your family, your church, your community, and your immediate surroundings are what truly matter. Everything else is an illusion.”

The Upside of Technology

While technology often distracts, it doesn't have to. The key is to use it as a tool for creation, not consumption. My antidote to mindless scrolling? I use my iPhone to enhance my reality.

- Voice dictation helps me flesh out ideas and capture thoughts on the go.
- Blogging tools like WordPress allow me to share my perspective with ease.
- The iPhone camera serves as a simple yet powerful tool for vlogging and documenting the world around me.

“Use technology to enhance your reality and champion the raw human experience by sharing your thoughts, perspective, and art.”

By focusing on creation rather than consumption, I leverage technology to stay rooted in reality while sharing my unique vision with the world.

Final Thoughts

Reality is beautiful, filled with inspiration at every turn. In a world dominated by screens, staying grounded in the real world is an act of rebellion. Find beauty in the everyday and use technology as a tool to celebrate and share that beauty. Let the real world be your muse.
