

You're the Only One Who Can Give Life Meaning

At the end of the day, you are the only one who can give your life meaning.

Don't waste time worrying about what others think—whether it's about your art, your personality, or your lifestyle. Everything is noise, and the only thing that matters is your own perception of reality.

Truth and meaning come from within, not from the opinions of others.*