

It's Difficult to "Unsee"

Our vision and relationship to images is an integral part of the human experience.

For instance—

My photographic memory that can recall childhood memories and experiences vividly from as young as 4 years old.