

Aphorisms on Street Photography at the Beach

- “The beach is the ultimate photographer’s playground.”
- “You can walk for miles and encounter an endless stream of new people and moments.”
- “Life unfolds openly and freely at the beach.”
- “When you feel bliss, happiness, and joy, that energy reflects back in your photographs.”
- “Photography has nothing to do with photography – it has everything to do with how you engage with humanity.”
- “Follow your bliss, and it will impact the photographs you make.”
- “Golden hour is plug-and-play for street photography – you just go out and you know you’ll find something.”
- “The Ricoh lets you snap away with ease, blending into the environment and capturing life as it unfolds.”
- “The beach is freedom. Match that energy in the way you photograph.”
- “Coney Island on the 4th of July is street photography paradise.”